

High Altitude wind power generation system

Developed a new class of wind generator based on extracting energy from high altitude wind. Wind energy is a significant source of renewable energy which is capable to meet the global energy demands. A tethered airfoil is used to extract energy from wind at higher altitude

Tools: LABVIEW, MATLAB

